

Jessica Mann
Professional Biography

May 15, 2007

Jessica Mann has been with Pfizer for 5 years. She is currently the Associate Director of Environmental Health & Safety at Pfizer La Jolla. Jessica is currently spearheading a variety of environmental sustainability programs including Green Chemistry; energy conservation (including the start up of a major new solar power installation at the La Jolla campus); and Green Buildings initiatives.

Prior to joining Pfizer, Jessica worked at Novartis Pharmaceuticals (East Hanover, NJ) for 11 years, where she held leadership positions in the environmental health & safety field.

She holds a Masters of Public Health in Occupational & Environmental Health; and a Bachelors of Science in Natural Resources/Environment, both from the University of Michigan.

Jessica maintains professional certifications as a Certified Industrial Hygienist (CIH); Certified Safety Professional (CSP); and Registered Environmental Manager (REM).