DTSC Chief Deputy Director Recognized by Long Beach City Councilwoman Rae Gabelich

Sacramento – California Department of Toxic Substances Control's (DTSC) Chief Deputy Director Leonard Robinson will be recognized by Long Beach City Councilwoman Rae Gabelich during the July 17th City Council meeting for his outstanding environmental service.

Robinson assisted in an electronic waste collection event that resulted in almost nine tons of waste being kept out of landfills. Mr. Robinson will be among several honorees. A small reception will follow the ceremony.

The March 10 collection event was a joint effort by the 8th District, Goodwill, Su Casa and DTSC's California Take It Back! Partnership.

The California Take it Back! Partnership is a consortium of retailers, corporations, city and county governments, utilities, non-profits, and individual store owners who have made a commitment to providing free, local and convenient locations for California consumers to return used fluorescent lamps, batteries or electronic devices.
