Topic Priority Products

In preparation for the GRSP meeting, we ask that you familiarize yourself with the Product Profiles developed for the three initial proposed Priority Products. Here are links to the profiles:

Children's foam padded sleeping products with TDCPP

Spray Polyurethane Foam Systems Containing Unreacted Diisocyanates

Paint strippers and varnish removers

During the meeting we will provide an update on the product selection process and share what lessons DTSC has learned from the process thus far. The discussion will not be a consideration of whether or not we selected “the right” products. Rather it will be an opportunity to learn from the GRSP in two specific areas.

First, we are asking the GRSP to consider the general structure and content of the profiles.

- Is the product profile content appropriate in conveying the basis for a product's prioritization?
- Are there additional types or sources of information that may be beneficial to consider in the future?
- Is there too much of emphasis on certain information?
- Are there considerations that could inform the 3-Year Work plan?

Second, are there areas of emerging science, AA methodology, product development, etc. that we may not be familiar with that may serve as useful reference materials as we craft the regulations for these products?
